

Public Meeting

Recreation and Open Space in Annapolis

Do you care about recreation and open space in the City of Annapolis?
We would like to hear from you.

The City of Annapolis Department of Recreation and Parks is updating the City's Recreation and Open Space Master Plan. The current plan, "Parks and Paths for People" was developed in 1987. The Plan is a long-range policy document that sets overall goals and objectives for the Department of Recreation and Parks for the next 10 to 20 years.

The Plan guides:

- How recreation funds are raised and spent in the City.
- What types of recreation and open space facilities are developed.
- What programs are offered.
- What recreation and open space initiatives the City pursues.

We want to hear from you about these issues. Let us know what you think.

- What's working, what's not?
- Are your and your community's recreation needs being met?
- What recreation and open space policies should the City be pursuing?
- What new facilities are needed? Which ones need to be fixed?
- What programs are needed? What programs are not?
- How should the Recreation Department be preparing for changing demographic and economic conditions?
- What new initiatives should the City consider?
- How should the City coordinate with Anne Arundel County to best serve the Annapolis region?

At the meeting there will be a brief presentation about the new Master Plan followed by an opportunity for the public to speak and ask questions. We look forward to seeing you!!
